The University of the Virgin Islands has appointed Dr. Nicole Gibbs to the post of Vice Provost for Access and Enrollment Services. Dr. Gibbs will oversee the administration of the offices of the Registrar, Admission, Financial Aid and Recruitment. She will work with other University committees to promote the retention.

She comes to UVI from Broward College, in Florida, where she served as associate dean for Student Affairs. Broward has 67,000 students on three campuses. Dr. Gibbs had oversight of admissions, recruitment, placement testing, orientation and retention. Her focus was on improved customer service of the department, while providing leadership and management oversight. Dr. Gibbs plans to restructure UVI’s Access and Enrollment Services offices and its human resources. Her primary goal is to improve customer service.

She also plans to establish collaborative relationships that will make recruitment and retention a University wide initiative. In accordance with UVI’s Strategic Plan, Dr. Gibbs’ long-term goal for the institution is to grow the University’s population to 3,000 by 2017. She is optimistic that this can be accomplished with the support of the UVI family, the Virgin Islands community and with students that tell their success stories.

Dr. Gibbs has served as associate director of Admissions for Ross University, and assistant director of Admissions and Recruitment at Georgia State University, where she was part of the implementation of a successful plan for increased enrollment. She earned a Doctor of Education in Educational Leadership from Clark Atlanta University, a Masters of Education from Columbus State University, and a Bachelor of Science in psychology from Georgia Southern University.

Marcel Lindsey is the admissions recruiter for the Albert A. Sheen Campus on St. Croix. His responsibilities include outreach to prospective students within the local high schools and community to educate and inform them about the benefits of going to college, and more importantly, UVI.

“It is my hope that individuals from near and far have an opportunity to attend college and advance themselves in their professional endeavors. UVI was a first choice for me, and through my experiences I want to show you why it should be your choice as well.” Essentially, Marcel is the voice to the community encouraging others to pursue their dreams through the many distinguished educational programs that UVI has to offer.

Greetings, All:

I would like to officially thank the UVI family for extending such a warm welcome to both the University and the Virgin Islands! The last several months have been extremely productive for the Access and Enrollment Services team. In addition to assisting prospective and continuing students during various campus visit opportunities, the unit is undergoing critical evaluation of its current operations - in an effort to enhance the student experience. With the implementation of several new initiatives and the establishment of elevated expectations, the team has embarked on a progressive journey to greatness.

Again, thank you for your support as we strive to increase enrollment at the University, develop collaborative relationships across the institution, and enhance the student services experience overall. I welcome feedback on your experience with the modifications being made within Access and Enrollment Services.

Best,

Nicole Gibbs, Ed.D
