Note Regarding Concentrations Within the Major

Using the four required electives in the English major, students may elect to concentrate their studies in a particular area. At the present time concentrations are offered in (1) Literature of the African Diaspora, in (2) Creative Writing and in (3) Journalism. Other concentrations may be offered in the future. Students may also design their own concentrations under the guidance of their advisors, or they may choose to take an assortment of English electives. See the UVI Catalog for detailed information involving concentrations within the English Major.
